Earth — 2160

It's been 40 years since our victory in the Akirovian Wars and our military might is more powerful than ever.

Thanks to volumes of top-secret information captured from the defeated Akirovs, Earth is the sole possessor of the Cybernetic Anthropomorphic Machine (code name: C.A.M.) — the most lethal weapon in the universe.

Yet as we approach the 23rd Century, the planet is on the verge of extinction. Life-giving resources are dwindling at an alarming rate. Our rivers have dried up, food is scarce and once-abundant precious minerals are nowhere to be found. If we don't replenish our dwindling raw materials quickly, Earth will surely perish...and the C.A.M. will fall into the wrong hands.

In desperate search of resources, exploratory missions have been launched toward the far reaches of the galaxy. But something has gone awry. One by one, our interplanetary probes are mysteriously disappearing.

We have reason to believe the Akirovs have broken the treaty and are once again on the warpath.

Mother Earth needs a new hero. You're the only one we've got to pilot the C.A.M. What's going on out there? Who or what is thwarting our plans to save the planet from total devastation?

You, C.A.M.rad, are the only hope.

Before you take on the galaxy, you're going to need to do some heavy training. Polish your C.A.M. skills by going head-to-head with a buddy, take on the computer, or customize a robot and pick up some pointers from watching a computer battle. You can also choose any of the different battlefields to prepare for the harsh climatic conditions you must contend with in OPERATION BHA.

To make your selection position the cursor over one of the selections and press the A, B or C BUTTON to toggle between them.

CONTROLS

MACHINES

Here's where you'll find the names, specifications and fighting secrets of every war machine in the system. Use the Directional Pad to cycle through the selections. Press A, B or C BUTTON to enter selection.

ON THE BATTLEFIELD

1: TIMER:

The time indicates the amount of time left to complete the battle. As time runs out, so does your energy level. It's best to destroy your opponent as quickly as possible.

2: ENERGY GAUGE

Each time you sustain an enemy blow your energy level will drop. Be careful! When your energy runs out, your C.A.M. will self destruct. You cannot use artillery when you have only one gauge left.

3: POWER METER

Keep an eye on your power meter! Lose your stamina, lose the battle. Full power is indicated by a green meter. A red meter indicates a power loss. Power loss can be caused by enemy strikes, overuse of your lethal maneuvers, or C.A.M.-damaging climate conditions. Meter must read green to fire artillery.

4: SPEED LEVEL

To adjust your fighting speed, press the START BUTTON and the action will automatically freeze. Use the Directional Pad to adjust to your desired speed. Once you've made your selection, press the START BUTTON and the battle will resume. You can doctor your fight speed at any time during battle. If game is left in the speed selection mode, there will be a delay before game play resumes.

OPERATION BHA

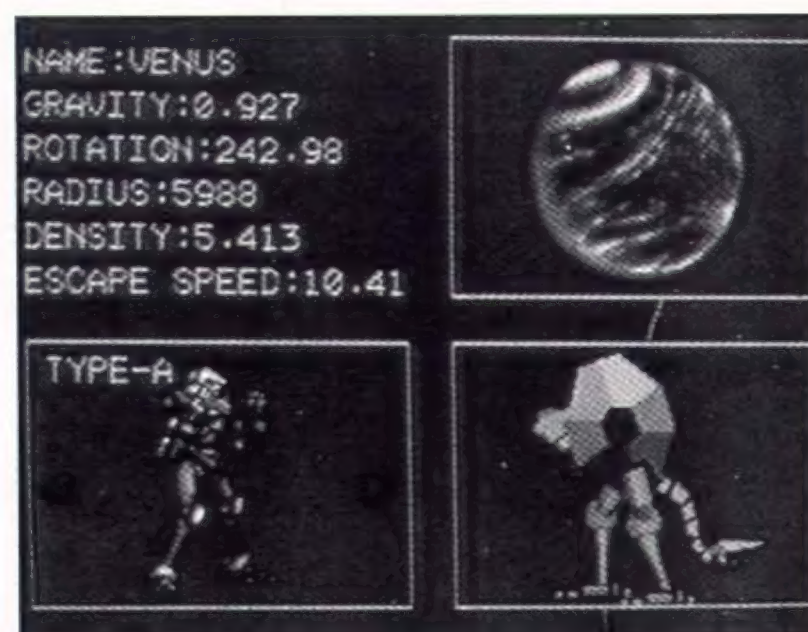

Time to rock, C.A.M.ster! From the Menu select OPERATION BHA. Now identify your access code, press the START BUTTON and get ready for round one. From the ASSIGNMENT/C.A.M. SELECTION MENU choose your C.A.M. with the Directional Pad. Once you've made your selection press ANY BUTTON and begin your mission.

OPERATION

The Akirovs have scattered their fighting machines on 8 different planets, asteroids and satellites throughout our galaxy. Here is a list of all the battlestations you must contend with. You have unlimited lives using the ally C.A.M.s (Cyquest and Orion).

You can also choose to play on "Easy" Operation BHA, a simulation on Defcon 2 and Mars; or "Normal" Operation BHA where you'll venture to all 8 battlestations.

MOVES

You can select from 11 different attack and defense moves to program into your war machine.

PROBABILITY

Probability determines how often, in percentage terms, the robot will make a desired move. With this feature you can test what moves works best with what war machines. For instance, if you set the probability level at 0, the robot will never do this maneuver. If you set the meter at 100%, when you approach the distance at which the robot is to do this move, the robot will definately try this particular move. Choose wisely—you have 550 points to work with.

To make your adjustments position the cursor in the box next to appropriate move. Then press the A, B or C BUTTON and drag meter to desired level using the Directional Pad. You can also do this by clicking the cursor on the digital percentage and cycling through selections with the Directional Pad. To enter your selection press ANY BUTTON.

DISTANCE

This setting determines the distance at which the selected move occurs. If you set the guage at zero, the robot has to approach to 0m before it will attempt the move. The distance scale is based on the C.A.M. being 10m high. The manipulation of the settings is crucial. Even if you adjust the probabilities appropriately, if your distance is off, your robot will be weak. Distance settings also vary considerably depending upon the opponent warbot. (To set desired distance follow procedure described above.)

COMPUTER LEVEL

You can program how tough or how weak you want your computer opponent to be. To set the skill level, position the cursor on the digital setting and press the START BUTTON. You can now cycle through the settings using the Directional Pad. Once you've made your adjustments press the START BUTTON.

C.A.M./WAR MACHINE SELECTION

You have 1 C.A.M. and 7 alien robots to choose from. You can even duel using the same robots. To make your selection highlight "1P" and press ANY BUTTON. Now use the Directional Pad to choose a warrior. Press ANY BUTTON to enter your selection. (Repeat procedure for "2P")

BEGIN PLAY

After you've entered all your selections move the cursor to the upper right corner of the Menu and click cursor on "START." Train hard.

ALIENS

The alien local boys possess some hot firepower and unorthodox fighting styles. Watch out! You don't want to spend the rest of eternity...a human satellite.
